Arnold & Son plays 18 holes in Fort Lauderdale

On Monday, January 11, Arnold & Son was pleased to participate in "Swing for a Cause Charity Golf Tournament" at Grande Oaks Golf Club in Fort Lauderdale, Florida, with our local retail partner, Provident Jewelry. The tournament benefits the Urban League of Broward County's youth education and development programs.

Founded in 1975 as an affiliate of the National Urban League, the Urban League of Broward County is a community based organization dedicated to empowering communities and changing lives in the areas of education, jobs, housing, and health.

Hosted by Merrill Lynch, guests included Major League Baseball and National Football League players such as free agent Yoenis Cespedes, Toronto Blue Jays pitchers Marcus Stroman and Aaron Sanchez, Detroit Tigers outfielder J.D. Martinez, Buffalo Bills wide receiver Leonard Hankerson, Chicago Cubs infielder Javier Báez, Cincinnati Reds pitcher Keyvius Sampson, Boston Red Sox right fielder Rusney Castillo, Texas Rangers Lewis Brinson, along with Ballers actor Donovan Carter, and many more. Each of the celebrity players teamed up with three guests to play 18 holes with a shotgun start.

Arnold & Son watches were on display and guests and players alike had a chance to try them on, and learn more about the company history and unique designs behind the timepieces.
